Freshman/Sophomore Timeline
August: Review your class schedule and make sure you were scheduled for courses where you feel you can be successful. If you have questions or want to ask about a change, contact the counseling office immediately. Changes will be more difficult once classes begin.

Finances - If your family has not started to save money for your college education, it is important that process is started now. The expectation of all colleges is that families provide some of the funding for the student’s college education so it is essential that some money be on hand to get you started. If there is anything you can do in your neighborhood (babysitting, cutting lawns, shoveling snow, etc.) to earn money, please make sure you are saving part of that pay to help with your own education.

Aggressive Marketing - There are hundreds of companies around the country that were formed for the purpose of making a profit on the families of high school students. Aggressive marking is done by mail, email, phone call, text, and at small seminars to encourage parents to spend money for opportunities or services that are available for free or at nominal cost. Students may be told they have been selected for inclusion in a special book or for an honor organization. Students may receive slick brochures about leadership workshops, summer study, or travel opportunities. Families should be suspicious of any opportunity that makes dramatic claims about the benefits of participation or do not include the cost of the program in the marketing materials. Reasonably priced summer opportunities do exist. Families are encouraged to search for those that are offered for little or no cost.

There are also many companies seeking to charge families hundreds of dollars for assistance with the college search and financial aid processes. Perry Hall has seven experienced counselors who are anxious to help students step-by-step through the college process. Mrs. Campbell specializes in college counseling and is available to meet with families for consultation. Families are encouraged to talk with one of the Perry Hall counselors before registering for expensive outside services. If an offer seems too good to be true, families are wise to be cautious.
Athletics – If you plan to play sports in high school and college, visit the NCAA website (eligibilitycenter.org) to learn about high school course requirements for Division 1 and Division 2 athletes.

September: Get off to a good start in your classes. Join any clubs or organizations. If you have the opportunity to take on a leadership role in a club, do it! Begin preparing for the PSAT. Visit the PHHS College Fair as well as any local college fairs including NACAC.

October: Take the PSAT. Start a file or folder for college materials if you have not already. Start a portfolio if you are interested in art, music, drama, etc. Begin creating a broad list of colleges that interest you. Choose a place where you will keep information related to your life in high school. In this folder or box, keep things to remind you of your accomplishments: copies of your service learning forms, any awards or certificates you are given, a list of activities in which you’ve participated, etc. When it’s time to write a resume’, this information will be helpful.

November: Get familiar with Naviance. Research colleges using the "SuperMatch" tool. Naviance lets us share information with you and your family about upcoming meetings and events, local scholarships and other resources for college and career information. Find out about careers that match your personality traits. Use the resume builder in Naviance to begin tracking jobs, volunteer work and internships.

December: Meet with your school counselor or Ms. Campbell to devise a plan for your classes next year. Register for the most challenging classes you can handle while also maintaining A’s and B’s. If you are in 10th grade and plan to apply to a 4 year college, consider taking the SAT Prep course next year. It not only reviews curriculum content but also helps with a number of test taking tips.

January: Review PSAT scores. Create an account on collegeboard.org to get a full score report and link your scores to Khan Academy. This will help you with your weaker areas and give an individualized study plan for SAT. Students who practice an average of 20 hrs. on Khan Academy raise their scores on average 115 points. You will need your College Board account in your senior year to send SAT scores to colleges.

February: Start to research colleges online including information on tuition rates, activities, majors, study-abroad opportunities and scholarships. Continue to visit schools when possible and if they are far away, check out the schools’ virtual tours online.

March: It is not too early to think about where you might apply to college. Please plan to attend the College Fair at CCBC Essex in March. This is a great opportunity to talk with representatives from over 200 colleges. For more information, please see your PHHS counselor.

April: Plan now to do something productive with your summer. You may be able to find a part time job. There are lots of places that need volunteers: the public library, day care centers, hospitals, retirement communities, summer camps for younger children. We all benefit from doing something for someone else and experiences like this will look great on your resume.

May: The school year will end in a few weeks. Please check your grades and take care of any improvements that are needed: complete missing assignments, talk to the teachers if you need help, put some extra time into studying for tests, do extra credit assignments if they are offered. Please make a last push to get your grades as high as possible before the end of the quarter. GPA’s are calculated based on the final grade in each course and this will be the last opportunity to improve your grades.

June: Review end-of-year grades and cumulative GPA. Students who failed an academic course should see their counselor about repeating the course in summer school. Continue to add things to your post-secondary folder or box. It’s easier to add as you go along rather than trying to remember all of the things you have done once you are applying to college.
Family Connection in Naviance is a comprehensive website that you and your child can use to help in making decisions about colleges and careers.

To use Naviance, go to http://connection.naviance.com/perryhallhi

All students have a Naviance account that they can access from their homepage in BCPS One. They can access this both at school and at home. All parents have the ability to create a Naviance account that is linked to their child’s account. Parents are highly encouraged to do so as Naviance is the main portal for the college application process. Parents can go to the website above and click on “I need to register”. Parents will need a code to register which can be obtained from the school counseling department. Email Mrs. Campbell for your code: scampbell3@bcps.org
